Slim Look New Style

"Department store people are told what to wear. They may not wear what the store decides they may not. But there are no rules for teachers and yet teachers are models for their students of poise, grace, cleanliness and neatness". With these words, Mrs. Christine Wallach, fashion coordinator from Hahne and Company, opened the third and last of the charm series offered to Newark State freshmen, the Fashion Show.

Mrs. Wallach stressed the importance of accessories to basic clothes and separates. This type of outfit can be worn in many ways, changing the appearance entirely, and yet remaining fashionable on a very basic wardrobe. Many of the interesting outfits modeled by Newark State freshmen were well within the salary range of teachers.

Among the interesting fashions modeled were a cream colored orlon-dynel coat, the new miracle fabric resembling fur, with a small collar and push-up sleeves. The slim look of this season is reflected in the tapering length. With the dynel coat, the model wore a beret of dynamic rust, and gloves to match. Beneath the coat was a sheer rust wool shirt-waist dress, the timeless fashion.

Also featured was the new black watch suit with box jacket, so popular this season. A red sailor hat and white boy's shirt completed the ensemble.

Tweed is smart again, but now the emphasis is on the colorful salt and pepper tweeds. They were shown with blues, greens and reds predominating. Hahne and Company features a blue confetti tweed suit with a box jacket and very slim skirt. Almost any color in accessory looks lovely with this outfit. With it the model wore the new fur beret in white.

The glen plaid suit has been featured in Vogue this month, and our model wore one with black velvet collar, fitted jacket and box-pleated skirt. Red accessories strike the new dramatic tones of this suit and highlight them.

Avacado is the favorite color this season. Two dresses were shown in this vibrant shade of green. One, a simple, jewelry-necked princess wool, was worn with rope beads. Alligator accessories made this outfit striking and different.

Charcoal grey seems to be staying in the fashion picture, as an excellent item for separates. The charcoal grey suit has simple sleeves, box jacket and, of course, the slim skirt. The low placed pockets are news this year, and red accessories complement the coat lining. The knitted cap is becoming popular again, this time in bright red.

Mrs. Wallach warned the audience against wearing many crinolines beneath the slim coats. Even the semi-full skirts should be worn with soft petticoats but not stiff crinolines.

Where Will You Be?

by Barbara A. Walsh

Yes, where will you be? This question is directed to you alone. November 18, will be the very first game of the current basketball season. Do you know that it will be also the very first home game?

Just what are you going to do about encouraging the college team? Some of you will do absolutely "huttin". Others will half-heartedly accept the fact that there is a game and forget about it conveniently the evening of the game. Too often this has happened in previous years. That is why we of the REFLECTOR are taking the time, the effort and the space to make sure that you as an "individual" member of the student body, know that Newark State does have a team, and we might add, a very good one.

As of this writing, the REFLECTOR members have decided to take in the first game en masse. We are sincerely hoping that you will be sitting next to us.

The pictured members of the team are outstanding members from last year's squad. These are not the only boys who will be playing this year. Come on down to the gym at 8:30 p.m. on November 18, and meet the others.

GIRLS: Bring along those dates.

BOYS: Don't be strangers. Make your presence known.

thank Mrs. Wallach in behalf of the student body for the instructive and entertaining hour she spent with us.

Douglass Enjoys Tea; Juniors to Attend Hop

A Welcoming Tea was held on October 26 for the Juniors from Douglass College, Rutgers University and transfers from other colleges. Each new Junior received a small corsage with a welcoming tag attached. Refreshments consisted of coffee and finger sandwiches. The New Juniors thought the welcoming tea was a very thoughtful gesture and they enjoyed it immensely.

The Junior Prom will be held on May 5, 1956 at the Chi-Am Chateau, Highway 22, Mountainside, New Jersey, from 8:30 to 1 a.m. There will also be a Buffet Supper and a band which has not been decided upon. The Junior Class has received special permission from President E. G. Wilkins and the Administrative Cabinet to charge a specified amount of $3.00 per person for the buffet supper to be served during the latter part of the evening. The chairman of the Junior Class Prom Committee is Virginia Glaser.

Senior Class Sponsors Show

Are you tired of seeing the same old drab looking faces about you in the corridors of Newark State? Do you think that some of them could stand some lifting, plastic surgery, and (if all else fails) covering? Then you dear reader are most unappreciative of true beauty.

The REFLECTOR suggests that you remedy this serious deficiency in your educational background by attending the Senior Class Show. Informed sources have revealed that outstanding connoisseurs will be on hand to help widen your background.

Seriously though, the senior show this year promises to be bigger and better than ever, and while we can't guarantee your intellectual stimulation we do promise to tickle your funny bone with many a fantastic scene.

The seniors have been working like the proverbial beavers, neck deep in scripts and props. The scenery and lighting and program are all prepared. Now all we need is your presence. Do yourself a favor. Come to the Senior Class Show.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In regard to Miss Cathy Stubite's letter in the last issue of the REFLECTOR, her interest is more than commendable; although many of her opinions are based on a lack of information.

The title, "Student Sees Intellectual Growth Stunted" appears to have aggravated Cathy. That title is not mine or of my choosing, it was substituted in place of the original title by a member of the REFLECTOR. What appeared in the REFLECTOR was Essay One of a series of eight essays "Are We Ready to Graduate."

I am not, as Cathy implies, "guilty of journalistic sensationalism," which to me means a style of writing designed to excite and please people with vulgar "tastes". Any individual who is aware of intellectual and social trends would not find Essay One sensational. In passing, I believe Cathy should realize that Mr. Downes suggested Essay One appear in the REFLECTOR. The many instructors and students who speak favorably of Essay One, are people who can evaluate, these people do not speak favorably about something that is not in accord with their "tastes".

Cathy said, "I am disappointed in Mr. Citarelli's attitude toward Newark Staters." These attitudes are mine and were developed after a great deal of research into the national college situation. I wrote about Newark State alone.

In reference to Cathy's theme throughout her letter, it's one of feeling. What more could a writer ask than that readers "feel" what is written. Many of Cathy's reactions seem to be embedded in a deep pride for our college, something we both possess; but pride is more valuable when one does not let it cloud the apparent picture.

In summary may I state again that I consider myself a part of the students described in Essay One and also that Cathy has commented as one who has misconstrued Essay One because of semantical misinterpretations.

Dear Editor:

Please, please, oh please print my name in your next edition correctly. I'll settle on a minimum of quarter inch letters.

My name is Welsh in origin. Mom wanted something different, and she got it! (The name, I mean) It rhymes with Dennis.

Believe me, I would have settled for Sam, but Glennys I've got and Glennys I'll stay. (With your help.)

I'd appreciate your help. Thank you.

Dear Editor:

Here of late, the attendance at the assemblies has been exceptionally good, and the performers have been well received. This, perhaps, is due to the wonderful planning of the assembly committee and partly to the fact that the majority of our students have good intentions and really need no coercion after all.

Another extraordinary program is about to be presented soon which will be similar to services held all over America. The fact that the Thanksgiving Day Assembly occurs at the end of all classes creates a bit of doubt as to whether some of us will be too eager to begin our holiday recess that we will not have time to assemble to offer our thanks to God for all our past blessings and express our hope of future ones.

On this one day that is designated in Newark State to observe this national holiday, we should be happy to exercise a freedom, a privilege that is denied numerous other people.

Let us see if we can sacrifice a little more of our time to join in worship and thanksgiving.
Sincerely,
Juanita Williams

LOU MOLINARI

The story Lou Molinari outstanding senior, has to tell is a wonderful one. Upon graduating from high school, Lou went to work as a machinist. The pay was very good and he liked the work but as time passed and Lou became acquainted with the workers his feelings about his job changed. He noticed that the men did the same thing day after day, and he realized he wanted to do something more. He wanted a challenge, a world where he could grow both physically and mentally.

He loved working with machines and knowing N.S.T.C. had such a fine Industrial Arts course, he decided to apply. Lou received a scholarship this year for Outstanding Service to the School. He also made the Dean's list!

Lou is a Staff Sgt. in the National Guard and instructs a group of men two hours a week. He enjoys this "work" very much.

For the last two summers Lou has worked at the School of Conservation. In his spare time he repairs guns and does a fine job at reloading his own ammunition.

In school, Lou is a member of the Industrial Arts Guild and Nu Sigma Phi Fraternity. He is also a member of Epsilon Pi Tau and Kappa Delta Pi both honorary societies of the school.

He will do his student teaching in Bloomfield Junior High and is really looking forward to it.

Lou feels he has been lucky to have encouragement in the right direction from many sources during his lifetime, and he only hopes he can carry out the expectations many have for him.

ANN CAMPOLATTARO

If one day you are called to Dr. Whiteman's office don't tremble, don't fret, who knows--you may be asked to appear on a T.V. show. That is precisely what happened to a certain Miss Anne Campolattaro. Yes! On October 20 Ann was told she had been chosen to appear on the Saturday Junior Town Meeting. Now October 22 is a day Ann will probably never forget! Being interviewed by Jerry Roberts and being seen by so many wonderful people was a new and thrilling experience to her.

Another day Ann will never forget is August 6. That is the day she became engaged to Piave Corradi, a senior at Newark College of Engineering. From the looks of things, 1955 has been a very good year for this senior. We hope 1956 will be, too.

To start the new year right Ann will student teach at the Demarest School in Bloomfield. She has a second grade and is anxious to begin teaching.

At present she is employed at the Cicero Furniture Store as a receptionist.

Ann is a member of the A.C.E.-F.T.A., the Girls' Glee Club, and Nu Sigma Tau Sorority. She likes N.S.T.C. very much but is looking forward to graduation and then, a life of teaching.

That's all for now---see you around.

Abstract Days Hit NSTC

There has been much comment and interest shown in the abstract paintings exhibited on the third floor. These paintings have been done by non-art majors, many of whom have never painted before.

The theory behind these paintings is that everyone can paint. They are part of a new course at the college, "Experiencing Art," which is the work of Dr. Lillian Calcia and her department. The course, which began last year, is divided into four periods of eight weeks each in which each period is devoted to some aspect of art.

There has been some question as to why these paintings have been expressed only in the abstract. Mr. Colsen says that it is the educational belief behind abstract that it is a lot easier for a student to concentrate on line, color and form rather than for a student to attempt to produce purely representational art. It also enables one to enjoy art while producing an individualized picture.

It is with this principle in mind that students have set forth to experiment with the fundamentals of art, not only to broaden their own personal background but to understand and appreciate art in general.

The Big Gripe

"But why doesn't someone do something about it? This college is the epitome of disorganization!" -- Such remarks are often heard.

Attitudes such as these are displayed by some students. Somewhere, someone is complaining about this, that, or the other thing. Yet, watch the very same person complaining run for a bus or a train at 2:35. Remember that old saying, "everyone complains about the weather, but nobody does anything about it"? How well that can be applied to many of the students at Newark.

A few people learn in time to stop complaining and to act; others just stop complaining; but, there are always a few who never manage to have fun during their college years because all their spare time is taken up with their gripes.

It is true that the college building is no architect's dream and, there are substitutions in facilities but, the student body and those closely associated with the college are doing a tremendous job.

If there is something that bothers a student he shouldn't advertise his dislikes; he should discuss the matter with his counselor or an instructor.

To be considered an adult one must act accordingly. There is no more definite sign of immaturity than the obviously false air of sophistication displayed by those who think they are fooling others. In reality the only ones they are deceiving are themselves.

ODDS AND ENDS

As the "Autumn leaves of red and gold" drift by the window, Newark Staters' thoughts of blue and gray are overshadowed by thoughts of Thanksgiving and turkey dinners, football games and parades. . . . But the college is still buzzing about its business.

Clubs

November 22 - The newly organized Hebrew Culture Club invites all to its Thanksgiving Song Festival: Cantor Edgar Mills presents Hebrew Music through the ages. 6:30 P.M. in the Tudor Room. . . . Congratulations to the new officers of the A.C.E. - F.T.A. Helaine Rothstein, President; Miriam Bernstein, Vice President; Jean Ferguson, Recording Secretary; Pat Garrett, Corresponding Secretary; Irene Brown, Treasurer; Ann Shanon, Chairman of Student Recruitments, and Edith Travisano, Subscriptions Chairman. . . . They've already started the ball rolling at Atlantic City by sending ten delegates to the N.J.E.A. Convention . . . . The Newman Club heard Monsignor Dougherty speak on the Bible at the November meeting. . . . members of the Alethian Club joined with the North Jersey area of the Inter Varsity Christian Fellowship for a barn party at the Grange Hall in Preakness last Saturday night -- and a good time was had by all.

Sororities

New officers of the Omega Phi Sorority are: Sandy Spiegel, chancellor; Barbara Schneiderman, secretary; Marsha Jacobs, corresponding secretary; Renee Antleman, treasurer; Carol Wolk, historian. . . . the sorority held its pledge dinner at the Hotel Suburban. . . . Alpha Theta Pi is under way this year to make theirs the most "social" sorority on campus. . . . the new program began on November 5 at the home of Gail Tice, president. . . . a sorority-fraternity party was held at that time with Kappa Sigma from Rutgers, New Brunswick. . . . Sigma Kappa Phi will hold a social meeting on November 17 in the Tudor Room at 6:30 P.M.

Jottings

The Delta Rho Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education, will hold its Annual Initiation Banquet on December 5 at the Military Park Hotel at which time new members will be received. . . . Attention Juniors and Seniors! Last call for orders on college jewelry -- have your order in by November 18.

To all students. . . . SUPPORT YOUR TEAM!

A Freshman's First Days At Newark State

Perhaps you upperclassmen have forgotten your first days at Newark State. To refresh your memories, let me tell you of my own first days here. I'd like to highlight what I am sure I will always remember.

Entering COLLEGE is like nothing I had ever experienced. High school was frightening, but there, there were the kids I had grown up with. So you could say I was still at home even in strange surroundings. But here, there were just strangers.

At first it was hard - new surroundings, new people, a new situation. But soon, strangers became a section, and the section developed into friends. Meeting our professors was more of an adventure than a problem. Life was very easy, but it soon changed.

The first obstacle, the book store was presented. That harrowing experience which no student, no matter what grade, can escape. "Fill out a book slip; sorry, no change of a five; ran out of that book yesterday; gotta make a class, come back later!", all familiar cries to upperclassmen, but to freshmen - the roar of a bull elephant. It seemed as though those books would never be mine; that in order to obtain them, I would have to write them. But finally, with little or no loss of blood, the locker was crammed with books, 4H pencils, lab notebooks and dissection kits.

After three weeks, I felt as though I was a real part of the college. I knew my way around the building, I could open my locker pretty rapidly, I could find a seat in the lunchroom, and then----

It happened----Freshman hazing. The scourge of all freshmen by upperclassmen. Lord help those who didn't have candy, or who couldn't sing or dance. During those three days though, it was more fun to break the rules than to obey them. After all, a fair trial came with every summons. The decisions were always unanimous; all upperclassmen innocent, all freshmen guilty. But it was all in fun and no one minded counting windows for a whole afternoon.

This is what I remember best about my first month here at college. I hope that it has brought some pleasant memories to you.

Student Council Reports Charity Drive in Spring

The student council reports that all committee lists have been completed with the exception of the House and Athletic Committees. These will be drawn up in the very near future.

Among the new business discussed at the last council meeting were the matters of the News Service Bureau in the school and the functions of the Standing Committees. The discussion made clear that the standing committees include publicity, mimeograph, Constitution revision, and N.S.A. chairman.

The next item on the agenda dealt with plans for the Charity Drive to be held next spring. An important meeting of all club, sorority and fraternity presidents was held on November 10, as an outgrowth of this discussion. It was decided that the clubs, sororities and fraternities will have an active part in the drive and therefore it was deemed necessary to poll their opinions in regard to Charity Drive planning and organization. Some of the alternatives offered for discussion at this meeting included the following:

- Time---
1. one whole day
  2. after school and evenings
  3. a Friday and Saturday

- Events---
1. Variety show
  2. variety show and bazaar
  3. both of these plus a masquerade ball

Month---

1. March
2. April
3. May

Place---

1. Outdoors
2. Indoors
3. A combination of both

Hi-Lows Tune Up

The newest of clubs recently formed at N.S.T.C. can be found practicing every week in room 34. Under the direction of Mr. Platt, the group which consist of 24 girls holds rehearsal on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Obviously the girls are very enthusiastic about the future plans of the Hi-Lows, and are always willing to hold extra rehearsals whenever needed.

The Hi-Lows made their first appearance two weeks ago when they sang for the Glee Club a lively number, The Penny Parade. As for their future plans, they will sing at both the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs. Among their numbers will be Sleigh Ride, The Christmas Song and Holiday. They will combine their voices with the Men's Glee Club and the Women's Glee Club at both programs.

Mr. Jack Platt

Turkey Served?

As if the contagious joy of the encroaching holiday season were not enough to put a smile on your face and a twinkle in your eye, the music department plans to add to the general air of festivities by directing the annual Thanksgiving Program here at the college.

There will be many appropriate selections given by the Women's Glee Club, the newly organized Hi-Lows, the Men's Glee Club, and the orchestra with the audience also participating in some activities.

Dr. Wilkins will make a proclamation of gratitude to the Almighty, while the Women's Glee Club provides the background chorus.

The audience and the orchestra will sing several selections appropriate to the Thanksgiving season. Informed sources have revealed that some of the numbers to be done by the Glee Club include such favorites as "No Man Is An Island" and "Sleigh Ride".

Thanksgiving recess will begin officially at the close of this program.

Aleithians Hold Meeting

The last meeting of the Aleithian Club featured Miss Harriet Marsh who spoke on "Sin and the Guilt Complex". Miss Marsh, who is the holder of a B. S. and M. S. in psychology from the University of Wisconsin, emphasized the need of man for security and inner peace. Using current statistics she cited many cases where lack of a stabilizing force within a person caused breakdowns of various types. As man becomes secure in his relationship with God he can find adequate balance in his life.

Group singing was led by Thomas Mortland of Lehigh University, a guest of Dr. George McMeen, advisor to Aleithian Club. Refreshments were served after the meeting from a very gaily decorated table.

Bible study groups meet on every Monday afternoon at Ford-Sayre Hall, 125 Mt. Pleasant Ave., One block from the college. Speakers are also featured at this time. Aleithians extend a sincere welcome to any student wishing to attend.

Attention! All students who have not been x-rayed. On November 14th, at 2:35 pm. a bus will leave for East Orange High School where x-rays will be taken.

Atlantic City Convention Held November 10th

As in many years past, this year too, the New Jersey Education Association held its convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey. A very full schedule attracted teachers and administrators to the convention. No doubt many teachers went home with free samples from exhibits plus a wealth of new and varied ideas.

The first general session began at 8 p.m. on Thursday, November 10, at Convention Hall. It was presided over by Mrs. May C. Smith, president of NJEA. After preliminaries Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger spoke and the presidents of the New Jersey State Teachers Colleges were introduced, Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins among them. An address by Dr. John Lester Buford, president of NEA followed. After a musical diversion by the Voices of Harry Mulder, the assembly was addressed by the Hon. Robert B. Meyner, Governor of New Jersey, and Dr. Ralph G. MacDonald, president, Bowling Green State University, Ohio.

The second general session on Friday, November 11, at 2:30 pm. paid special tribute to Veterans' Day with an address by Donald R. Wilson, past national commander, American Legion, and music by the Senior Drum and Bugle Corps, Captain Harry B. Doremus Post No. 55 American Legion from Hackensack and past champions. Several of the highlights of the third general session were the Oberlin Harp Ensemble from Ohio, burning of the NJEA mortgage, and a talk given by General Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United Nations, on "America's Stake in Asia."

In addition recreational activities included two NJEA dances Saturday night, and a concert Saturday at 3 pm. by the 1955 New Jersey All-State High School Chorus and Orchestra. The time between general sessions was crammed with various NJEA group meetings, too numerous to

C.C.U.N. Attends International Fair

The Collegiate Council for the United Nations here at Newark State has invited to take part in the American Association for the United Nations -- New York University International Fair, held on November 11 and 12 on the N.Y.U. campus. The college was asked to provide a booth for recreation, and some talent for entertainment. The game booth the C.C.U.N.'ers prepared is a golf ball-in-the-pocket skill game originated by Molly Brodinsky and Marcia Jacobs, both class of '59.

The program included other games in addition to those featured at the booths on Friday, and entertainment and dancing on Saturday until midnight. The affair was held in the Green Room of the Washington Square Building of N.Y.U.

Not only did the program turn out to be a huge success, but many students were heard to remark upon the many new and interesting people they had met.

Hebrew Culture Club

The Hebrew Culture Club is for those of all religious denominations who would like an opportunity to enjoy the many contributions that Jewish monks have made to the artistic, educational, and religious worlds.

For its opening program of the year, the Club will present the renowned Cantor, Edgar Mills,

Newmans Plan Theatre Party

Along with a most interesting and informative talk on the importance of the bible and holy scripture the Newmanites discussed some of their plans for the future at their last meeting.

A group of the club's members plan to form a theater party to see the current play produced by the Black Friars Guild called "Song Out of Sorrow".

Another outing scheduled for the more distant future is the annual student sponsored trip to the zoo for the orphans.

Plans are now being made for the annual Christmas Party, and for the showing of a film on The Acts of the Apostles.

Programs for the forthcoming club meetings include an address by Dr. Anna S. Starr of the Psychological Department of Rutgers University, and a talk upon the sacrament of marriage.

assisted by Mrs. Mills at the piano, in a Thanksgiving Song Festival of "Hebrew Music Through the Ages". The event will take place on Tuesday evening, November 22 at 6:30 p.m. in the tudor room. The club extends an invitation to all students to attend and participate in this worthwhile and informative program.

Orchestra Assembly Planned

Hi-Lows Rehearse

Look! Look! - - - a fifty-two measure rest - - - just time to dash down and make the REFLECTOR deadline for this issue. Why must the paper keep going to press when were in the middle of a run?

We have a larger group this year. Xavier Solemme, back again at Newark State from a stretch with a navy band, plays plenty of trumpet. He makes a fine pace setter for the brass section (and all of us). Our woodwind section has to "look Alive" to keep pace with those light footed strings. As for our new drummers, they certainly get a work out.

Next Wednesday we'll all venture forth into the Auditorium to join the Glee Club and Hi-Lows in the annual Thanksgiving Program. This will be our first public performance this season and we are looking forward to accompanying the student body in these

Wappalane Winter Weekend

Wappalane, the college nature study club, plans to hold its next meeting on November 21 at 7:00 P.M. in the tudor room. The group is planning a winter weekend at Stokes State Forest on December 3 and 4 and plans for this outing will be discussed at this meeting. All those interested in participating in this activity are invited to attend the meeting and learn of the details.

It is hoped that Ben Cummings, director of education at New Jersey State School of Conservation, will be able to speak at this meeting. Mrs. Bartlet will also add to the entertainment by showing the group the slides that she took at Yellowstone and Glacier National Park.

Here Come the Girls

These are the fifteen girls who were chosen to cheer our basketball team on to victory:

Irene Brown

Renee, a Junior 5 in the G.E. curriculum, is a girl that is full of pep and vitality. This probably accounts for the fact that she has been on the squad since her freshman year and is captain this year. We thank South Side High School for this enthusiastic and likeable person.

Joan Dante

A graduate of the Academy of St. Elizabeth, Joan is a Junior 8 and following the G.E. - Handicapped curriculum. Joan has also been a cheerleader in previous years.

Marie Belluso

An alumna of Barringer High School, Marie is a Sophomore 2 in the K.P. curriculum. She has one pet peeve; unsociable fellows. A cheerleader during her freshman year, Marie loves practically all sports as well as dancing and singing.

Mary Hudson

A Sophomore 4 in the G.E. curriculum, "Mem" hails from Abraham Clark High School, Roselle, New Jersey. She bitterly dislikes being made to hurry. "Mem" was a cheerleader in her freshman year at NSTC.

Pauline Mazzarella

This is a girl that is full of fun and good humor. Her pet peeve is Newark Staters who lack school spirit. Paul, as she likes to be called, is a graduate of West Side High School. A Sophomore 4 in the G.E. curriculum, Paul was a cheerleader in her first year at Newark State.

Marie Rossi

Ree is a Sophomore in Section 3 and has the K. P. curriculum. She enjoys bowling and loves to watch the NSTC basketball games. She has one pet peeve, however: homework over the weekends. Ree is an alumna of Belleville High School.

Rochelle Unger

Shelle, as she likes to be called, is a sophomore 4 in the G.E. curriculum. This girl with her brilliant personality is a graduate of Irvington High School.

Henrietta DiSessa

Hedi is a freshman 3 with a K.P. curriculum. She hails from Barringer High School where she was a cheerleader. Hedi dislikes phonies and has a weakness for men with brown hair and blue-green eyes.

Lois Eskin

A graduate of Union High School, Lois is a freshman in Section 2. A lover of music, she is a great asset to the Women's Glee Club. She also likes bowling and enjoys playing the piano. Lois' pet peeve is boys who are late for dates.

Bill LaRusso, Bob Giacobbe

Jacqueline Frank

An alumna of St. Vincent's Academy where she was a cheerleader, Jackie is a freshman in Section 6, whom she represents in the Student Council. Jackie has a wonderful sense of humor and a witty answer to every question.

Linda Heyman

"Footsie", her friends call her and she hails from Irvington High School. A freshman in Section 5, she dislikes people with no school spirit. She loves to dance, likes all kinds of sports and enjoys knitting.

Joan Meyer

Joanie was co-captain of the cheering squad in Irvington High School, her alma mater. A freshman in Section 4, she dislikes to be called "shortie". She likes to play the piano, dance, and swim.

Catherine Packard

The vivacious freshman from Section 2 is a graduate of Benedictine Academy. Cathy follows the K.P. curriculum. She loves to sing and dance and likes being with people.

Rosalyn Reed

Rosalyn is a freshman in Section 6 and has a G.E. curriculum. She was a twirler in Orange High School, the school she graduated from. She likes to be called Ros and dislikes having to ride on crowded buses each morning.

Carol Tidaback

An alumna of Hillside High School where she was a cheerleader, Carol is a freshman in Section 6. A friendly person, she is always full of vitality and fun. Carol loves everything about Newark State but wishes that teachers would stop mispronouncing her name even after she corrects them everyday.

Don't forget to look for the girls in the red and black.

Butler hits for two.

Archie Chiles

Archie Chiles is in the freshman class. Last June he was graduated from East Orange High where he received letters in football, track, baseball, and basketball. Two years ago he was a member of the football team which snapped Montclair's 27 game winning streak. In high school he was a very active person both academically and athletically. He was a member of the high school Student Council. He participated in both the Future Teachers' of America Club and in the Spanish Club. In college he is a member of the Camera Club.

Archie's hobbies are sports, piano, and social dancing, and looking forward to the new campus. Incidentally, while he's in school he gets relaxation every Friday by playing cards in the Tudor Room.

Dick Reinhart, Marsh Butler

Hank Kobik

Hank Kobik, a graduate of Ferris High in Jersey City, is a junior I.A. During his high school days, Hank bowled and also played basketball for the C.Y.O.

During the past few years, he has had a vast experience in handling young children. Serving as a baseball and basketball coach for a grammar school, Hank found the work very gratifying. He enjoys fishing as a hobby and comments that "I Ain't Got No-Body" is his theme song.

He is active in many school activities. Some of the organizations he works with are: Industrial Arts Guild, Norms, Nu Sigma Phi, and Epsilon Pi Tau. He is also planning on playing baseball for Newark State. His favorite basketball slogan is "Get Montclair!!"

Hank, like many Newark State I.A.'s, can be found roaming the lower floor till all hours of the night. He is the kind of person that hates to say "no", putting many strenuous hours on class shows in charge of the backstage crew. Hank does the kind of work which involves much time, getting very little recognition for it.

Coach Jannarone feels that after two years of devoted work in practice, Hank will come into his own this season. He has one of the best shooting eyes on the squad which will be shown by his fine one-hand jump shot.

The REFLECTOR looks to see a great deal of "Splinter" Kobik this year.

Don Wilson, Hank Kobik

Down the Court

Don Wilson

Don Wilson is in the sophomore class. He graduated from Arts High School in Newark where he played baseball, basketball, and was a member of the track team placing third in a city track meet. He now plays baseball and basketball for Newark State.

Don participates in many activities at Newark State besides sports. Last year he was President of the freshman class which means that he is very popular as a student. He is an active individual in the College Forum. To supplement his activities he is also on the Athletic Committee. He earns his tuition by working in the cafeteria. Don is a staff worker for the Newark Boys' Club, and enjoys that position very much. Since he is interested in children he worked as a camp counsellor last year and as a unit leader this summer.

He is very much interested in modern jazz and Mibs Davis is his hero. During his spare time Don works in a bowling alley to earn a few dollars on the side. He is also talented in dramatics; in fact he narrated the freshman play last year. Don Wilson predicts that Newark State is going to have a great basketball team this year.

Ernie Frino, Harry Morsch

Harry Morsch

Harry Morsch is a G.E. Junior. He graduated from St. Benedict's High School where he played baseball, basketball, and football.

Harry was in the U.S. Marine Corps and was stationed in Memphis. He served active duty in Japan and also served with the allied forces in Korea.

Very active in extra-curricular activities, he is a member of the G.E. Men's Guild, the Athletic Association, and Nu Sigma Phi. He gives freely of his time to these groups.

Harry is a married man, the big event taking place just this summer. His lovely wife Marilyn, is a former Newark Stater who graduated in 1954. Even with his individual responsibilities he gets lots of recreation participating in sports. This year he expects to play baseball for N.S. T.C. His baseball hero is Duke Snider (a good choice). He thinks that in basketball our team should be great if the breaks are in our favor.

Harry should be a big man for State this coming season. He fights extremely hard under the boards. His alert, quick hands will enable Harry to steal passes and break up many plays.

mention all but a few here. A group on Art Education held a three day exhibition on "Picture Making by the Child Five to Eleven Years Old." At the Curriculum Work Conference, Thursday from 9 am. to 4:45 pm., in all, 24 sub-groups met to discuss various phases. Many of our faculty members played a prominent role in the sessions. Dr. Wilkins was one of the three chairmen of a group on Administrator's Salaries. Mrs. Edna D. Salt presided over the Childhood Education group. Dr. Marion E. Shea, a former member of the faculty and now president of Paterson State Teachers College, closed the Curriculum Work Conference with a talk on "Widening the Horizon of Children." The English session featured Harrison E. Salisbury speaking on "What's Going on Behind the Iron Curtain." Dr. George H. McMeen discussed "Putting Meaning into Arithmetic Operations." Dr. George W. Gens spoke on "Mental Health Aspects of Speech Problems." Author of one of our science texts, Dr. Glenn O. Blough addressed the Science group. In addition to the faculty members mentioned many more were on hand and involved with the conference. Approximately 300 exhibitors had requested space and a wealth of educational books and various supplies were shown and available for distribution among those attending the three day conference.
